others to find a similar joy in sharing this folk art with children." Ten storytellers varying in style, preference, and degree of experience, appear in the film, explaining why they value storytelling for children and how they select and prepare the stories they tell. Three complete stories and parts of several others are featured with groups of boys and girls at actual story hours in clubs, classrooms, and libraries. E. L. H.

Collections

A Head Start Test Collection has been established at Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. Its purpose is "to provide information about assessment instruments for those engaged in research or project direction involving young children." An extensive file on both published and unpublished instruments suitable for use in early childhood education projects will be maintained in the collection, and qualified persons working in this area will have on-site access to the files. Further information about the Collection or requests for inclusion on the project's mailing list can be directed to: Head Start Test Collection, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

The staff of the Kerlan Collection has announced the donation by William Armstrong of the manuscript materials for Sounder (Harper) and by Mary Q. Steele for Journey Outside (Viking). Rocco Negri donated two illustrations for Journey Outside, and Margot Zemach has given ink sketches and watercolor studies for The Judge (Farrar). For a brochure or for further information regarding the Collection write to the Librarian, Kerlan Collection, University Libraries, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455.

Author-illustrator Peter Spier of Port Washington, New York, has made the new Port Washington Public Library the repository of his original paintings and drawings. Mr. Spier's illustrations for London Bridge Is Falling Down (Doubleday) won the Boston Globe-Horn Book Award for excellence of illustration in 1967, and his The Fox Went Out on a Chilly Night (Doubleday) was a runner-up for the 1962 Caldecott Medal.
